Open Source Design

Bringing great design to Open Source Software

We are a community of designers and developers pushing more open design processes and improving the user experience and interface design of open source software.

We write articles, run a job board, put on events, provide resources, and present talks targeted at developers and designers interested in working and designing in Open Source.

Read more about our goals and frequently asked questions. If you are interested in contributing, check out the section on our site for that. Also join our organization on GitHub and our forum.
